From the Committee to the Superintendence of the Boarding School at Nine-Partners, 4th of 8th Month, 1806,

To the Preparative Meetings within the compass of our Yearly Meeting

ON an examination into the concerns of the Superintendent, it is found that the balances against the School have been considerably increased, by reason of the superintendant not being able to take the advantage of markets, for want of ready money to purchase necessaries for the support of the family. We therefore apprehend circumstances call for a more strict adherence to the directions of the Yearly Meeting which are, that no child be admitted into the School without a minute, and a quarter's advance money, nor continued thereat unless payments are regularly forwarded in advance; and it is now concluded that Superintendents of the School henceforward pay particular attention to these rules.

The subject of the children's apparel claiming renewed attention at this time, it is particularly desired the preparative meetings extend a special care that they be clothed consistent with the simplicity of our profession; and the consideration of this subject led to the propriety of reviving the following extract from the minutes of the Yearly Meeting in 1800, viz. "Parents, and those who send children to the School, to be careful to have their clothing becomingly plain, both as to colour and make, and of a quality strong rather than fine, as it is very desirable that the unpleasant distinctions in appearance, relative to the quality of clothing between the children of those in affluence, and those who are not, as much as circumstances will admit, be avoided; and when unsuitable clothing is sent, that it be returned, or if it is only in the make to have it altered at the expence of such children's parent or guardian." And the Committee request that the children's clothing be of such colour and quality as well require the least washing.

Signed by order and on behalf of the Committee,

ELIAS HICKS,
ANNE WILLIS.

We receiv'd the extracts from the quarterly and yearly meeting and that part relative to friends making too free use of spirituous Liquors is directed to our preparitive meetings particular attention which are as follows,

At a Yearly Meeting held in newyork by adjournments from the 25 to the 29th of 5th [mo] 1807

In attending to the state of society as represented by the reports from our several Quarterly meetings we find that many things incompatible with the simplicity of our profeseion, are still apparent producing exercise and Concern to this meeting and several diviations stated by the accounts from being very prominent marks of departure from the principles of religion and morrel rectitude have very seriously affected the minds of friends particularly the improper and excessive use of distilled spirit and a fervent Concern is witnessed that friends in their various allotments and especially where those morneful effects are apparent make keep in remembrance the advanced state of our testimony in that respect and by a consistent conduct therewith and the brotherly and Christian Care towards those who give cause of concern in this particular those sorrowful and very affecting diviations may be done away from amongst us, a feeling sollisitude has also been experienced by the communications of divers Concerned brethren that friends Generally may for their conduct and example relative to the use of this article so distructive to the hapiness and morrels of man kind Countenancing and strengthening those in the use of it, by gradations have been Captivated thereby and while under the consideration of this subject we are lead to Call the attention of friends to that of distilation it being a medium through which large quantities of ardent spirits are defuced through our Country and as many distilleries have of late been erected in divers parts we desire friends every where may be led to consider the impropriety of furnishing them with the means of making this article, it being much better that the grain and other articles produce of our farmes that we are so plentifully blesed with through the bounty of our bountiful benefactor for our support and Comfort should be given for bread and succor to the poor than to be turned into the articles of spirits which in its nature and tendancy is so distructive to the lives of many of our fellow Creatures

our profession is founded on the [illegible] spirit of the Gospel a spirit that breathes peace on earth and good will to men and we fervently desire that friends in every department society show forth their Conduct consistent therewith that thereby our light may so shine that before men that others seeing our good works may have cause to Glorefy our heavenly father and that through such a conduct and a vegilent and Christiane care on the part of overseers and other concerned friends we may have reason to hope that those many painful dificiencies now apparent may be removed,

It appears by the minutes of our last yearly meeting directing the quarters to make alterations in the Quereys and the books of dicipline was not unlike understood by all the quarters in explanation thereof it may be stated that it is the entention of the meeting that under the head mariages in the 47 page of the book of dicipline the words or [magistrates] or any other person be crosd in all our Copeys and that in the seventh Query the Letter A before the word preist be incerted and the words or magistrates be eraced and that the portion of advice attached to the 3^d Query be also obliterated,

Our preparative meetings are directed to pay particular and se if the alterations are made in their Coppies of the book of dicipline as directed by the yearly meeting if they are not to make them and report

YEARLY MEETING,

HELD IN NEW-YORK,
BY ADJOURNMENTS,
FROM the 24TH TO THE 28TH OF FIFTH MONTH, INCLUSIVE, 1813.

THE subject of members of our Society accepting places of profit and honour in the government, as referred from last year, renewedly engaged the consideration of the Meeting; and after a free discussion, it appeared to be its sense, to recommend to the subordinate Meetings a careful attention thereto, agreeably to the advice issued last year, in order that all our members may, if possible, be convinced of the impropriety of accepting any post of profit and honour in the government: and our Quarterly Meetings were requested to report thereon as usual.

The meeting taking into consideration the subject of Schools, with the Reports from the Quarterly Meetings thereon, concluded to recommend to the subordinate meetings, continued attention to the interesting concern, and that reports of the number of Schools within their respective limits be brought forward annually.

The guarded education of the children of Friends, being justly considered of primary importance, not only to the objects thereof, but to the well-being and support of the testimonies borne by us to the world; Friends are earnestly exhorted to avail themselves of every means in their power to give their children the benefit of a suitable education.

In deliberating on the important subject, the Meeting was introduced into a feeling sympathy for those of its members, who, from their limited circumstances, are unable to provide means for the instruction of the youth; and concerned to remind Friends of the claims which their brethren in religious profession possessing but little outward substance, have upon their christian benevolence; that so, those to whom a greater portion of wealth has been intrusted, may be found in the spirit of charity, good stewards, "ready to distribute, willing to communicate." But should it be found, that in some parts of the Yearly Meeting, Friends, for want of pecuniary means, are unable to establish suitable Schools, it is desired that a representation of such cases may be made by the Quarterly Meetings next year.

In order to give more efficient relief to the description who have an especial claim to our brotherly sympathy, and to open the way for the admission of their children into the Boarding-School; it was unitedly concluded, to request the subordinate Meetings to open subscriptions for the purpose of raising a sum in addition to the present permanent Fund of that Institution, the interest of which is specifically applied to the education of the children of Friends in straitened circumstances, and forward the amount to Samuel Parsons, Treasurer; and under the exercise which attended this interesting concern, Friends were encouraged to a liberality suited to the greatness of the object.

In the course of our deliberations, the meeting was led to view the baneful effects resulting from the use of Distilled Spirituous Liquors: and although it is believed, that the exercise of former years, and the advices which the meeting has been engaged to give, have been very useful; yet, in taking at this time a general view of the enslaved and deplorable condition of our poor, intemperate fellow creatures, the minds of Friends were deeply impressed with the subject. It was particularly affecting that any amongst us, should, through unwatchfulness, countenance this great evil; and affectionately desired, that Friends may be increasingly careful to abstain from the use of an article so destructive in [its] effects, except for medical purposes – by which circumspection and care, qualification would be witnessed to admonish in the spirit of love on [every] proper and necessary occasion.

MINUTE OF THE YEARLY MEETING.

At a Yearly Meeting held in New-York, by adjournments from the 29th of the Fifth-month, to the 2d of the Sixth, inculsive, 1815.

ON a careful review of the state of our Religious Society, as represented by the Quarterly Meetings in reply to the queries, the meeting became exercised for the welfare of its members, attended with affectionate solicitude that in every department, and amongst all classes, there may be a willingness so to submit to the influence of the Holy Spirit, that its cleansing operation may be known to redeem from every thing which prevents the church from attaining to that purity, to which it is called.

Whilst thus engaged, friends were feelingly invited to reflect on the importance of a faithful discharge of the duty which we owe to a merciful Creator, by diligently assembling for the purpose of public worship; and reverently waiting on Him in whom are all our well springs. The worship of God is a great Christian duty, which, whilst it enriches, enlightens the mind, and enables it to discover those varied christian duties of perpetual obligation, the faithful discharge whereof, is not only intimately connected with our individual improvement, but also tends to qualify for the important office of building each other up in that faith which works by love.

A serious consideration of our frail dependent state, will not only humble and reduce, but at the same time expand our views and enlarge our ideas relative to the nature and the attributes of that Almighty Being by whose goodness we exist, and to whose glory we ought to live.

In this view of the importance and responsibility of our stations, a renewed and fervent travail has attended, that parents and guardains may be especially engaged so to submit to the operation of the heavenly Principle, and so to Dwell in the Divine life, that they may be enabled to give a right direction to the opening minds of their children, and be instruments in the Divine hand, in subjecting those wayward dispositions, which, if permitted to predominate in the youthful mind, will grow with its growth, and strengthen with its strength, and, choking the precious seed of the kingdom, will lay a foundation for future misery. The divine injunction to Israel was," Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is one Lord, and thou shalt love the Lord Thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength; and the words which I command Thee this day shall be in thine heart; and thou shalt teach them diligently unto thy children, and shalt talk of them when thou sittest in thine house, and when thou walkest by the way, and when thou liest down, and when thou risest up." Deuteronomy, vi.4, 5, 6, 7.

When the hearts of friends become influenced by Divine Love, and glow with Christian concern for their children, as there will be no disposition to seek for great treasures for them, so likewise, from a consideration that the earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof, it will be seen to be a great duty, the performance of which is a delightful employment to the benevolent mind, to gladden the hearts of the poor; and, it is affectionately desired, that in every part of this Yearly Meeting, careful attention may be extended to those whose limited circumstances preclude their offspring from partaking of the benefits of suitable school learning: and, that the concern so often, and so pressingly urged by this meeting for the establishment and support of schools, under the care of the society, for the guarded education of our youth, may be duly regarded. For, in the same proportion as the views and hearts of friends are extended and enlarged on this very important subject, we may safely indulge the cheering anticipation, that it will be attended with a blessing.

And as those who are intrusted with the interesting charge of children, become solemnly impressed with a sense of the responsibility of training up those who are candidates for eternal life; and duly reflect on the inestimable value of an immortal soul, they will leave nothing in their power undone in the discharge of this trust. Thus, we may hope, that by the Divine blessing on such pious labour, the reformation will be promoted; and succeeding generations advance in conformity to the simplicity and purity of our holy profession.
