The 2017 CFHA AGM will provide rich opportunities to review the past year's exciting activities, discern this year's business, join the bus tour exploration of Quaker Charles Zavitz at U of Guelph, and share lunch, dinner and personal stories with fellow members. All this will be followed by a very timely and important keynote presentation by Robynne Rogers-Healey:

Friends and Fellow Travellers: CFHA and Quaker History in the Digital Age

Robynne writes: "The digital age has changed the way scholars and genealogists access and interact with documents and with one another. The fast pace of this change has opened up new collaborative opportunities for archivists, scholars, and genealogists at the same time that it has raised questions and concerns for each group on preserving the integrity of research. What is the role of historical associations like CFHA in this digital landscape? This lecture explores changes to the field in the past twenty years and examines opportunities for CFHA to play a significant role in making Canadian Quaker history part of the larger global map of Quaker history."

Robynne Rogers-Healey is professor of history as well as co-director of the Gender Studies Institute at Trinity Western University in Langley, British Columbia. She is currently convenor of the Conference of Quaker Historians and Archivists. Her publications include From Quaker to Upper Canada: Faith and Community among Yonge Street Friends, 1801-1850 (McGill-Queen's University Press, 2006) and a number of articles on Quakers and Quakerism. Her research interests include gender and Quakerism, the transatlantic world in the 18th and 19th centuries, the 20th-century peace testimony, and Canadian Quakerism. She has also served on the Canadian Friends Historical Association Executive for some years as editor of the journal.

The past year has been a very active one, and we have a number of business items to discern in the coming meeting. The regular reports reflect the many areas of activity during the past year. The budget for the coming year sets out an equally ambitious program. The Executive looks forward to sharing information regarding the Founders Fund and the Scholarship Initiative, Built Heritage and Transcription/Website topics, and seeks your discernment and direction for the coming year. Please advise the chair of any specific concerns or possible agenda items as soon as possible.

As always, however, the CFHA Annual General Meeting will be an occasion for fun and exploration. This annual gathering is an opportunity for our members to experience enrichment and inspiration, and we look forward to seeing you there!

Sincerely,

Gordon Thompson, Chair.
